

Question of the week

Many fun things are a bit dangerous. When is something just too dangerous?

Think about this question as much as you can before writing anything. Discuss it with an adult or your brother or sister. Can you prove your answer?