I can create a diet for my creature

Now that you have created a habitat for your creature, it is time to think about what it eats. In science we have been looking at what creatures eat. Are they Herbivores, Carnivores or Omnivores? You need to think about what your creature eats. It must be something it finds in its habitat. So if it lives in a woods, does it eat berries? If it lives in the sea, does it eat fish? Have a good think and be creative.

Draw and label below what your creature eats.
