Needs vs Wants

Needs and wants are both very different, however, they often get confused. A need is something that you could not live without, like food or heat. A want is something that you do not need but it might make your life easier like a toy or a phone.

Sometimes, it is important for us to remember that there is a difference between the two.

On the grid below, can you write or draw anything that you Need and then anything that you Want.

Be as creative as you can, I have confidence that you will.
