This is what it's all been leading up to...everything you have learned over the last two weeks will help you write a really exciting story. Your story is going to be based on Girl and Robot.
Now...we have cheated and written some of the story already as you have the story opener you can use and the action paragraph for the middle of your story from previous day's work!

Your story should have about 6 paragraphs - one for each part of your comic strip. Don't worry, I'm not expecting a page per paragraph or even fantastically long paragraphs. Between 2 and 4 good sentences for each paragraph would be good. Some will lend themselves to being longer because more happens/there is more to describe!

When you think you have finished writing, make sure you read through carefully...

- Have you got full stops and capital letters in the right place?
- Doe it makes sense and are there any missing words?
- Have you have had your best go at spelling any tricky words?
- Have you have got lots of descriptive language in there using adverbs, adjectives and (if you're feeling clever!) some fronted adverbials.
- Have you remembered to start a new line or leave a line in between your paragraphs?
- Have you got a really gripping, exciting opening and action filled paragraph (steal it from your work this week)?

If the answer is "no" to any of the above, go through your work so that it includes those things!!)

It would be lovely if you included an illustration to go with your writing (either drawing on OneNote or on paper and insert a picture. I cannot wait to read your writing!
