

The Four Seasons

by Antonio Vivaldi

For our artwork this week we are going to take inspiration from a piece of music. More information can be found on the composer Antonio Vivaldi on the website below.

We are going to listen to the music and create a piece of art based on how the music makes us feel and the stroke/lines it encourages us to draw. Split your paper into 4, or you could use 4 different sheets of paper if you would like. Lay out your paints or pencil crayons so you have the choice of lots of different colours and press play. Select the colours the music makes you think of and begin making marks on the paper. You may find yourself moving your brush or crayon to the beat or it may make you imagine a picture in your head you wish to draw.

For each season stop and move to a new section of your page.

Music can be found on the link below
