

01.03.21

I can listen to poetry

An 'Everything' Pizza

I ordered an 'everything' pizza
Which probably was a mistake.

For it came with a bagful of doughnuts;
it came with a shovel and rake.

It came with a woman named Ida.

It came with a man from Peru.

It came with a half jar of peanuts.

It came with somebody's left shoe.

It came with a clown from the circus.

It came with a butterfly net.

It came with a small piece of Kleenex that was used by Marie Antoinette.

It came with an open umbrella.

It came with some old smelly socks.

It came with a picture of Lassie,
and two lovely grandfather clocks.

It came with a nice set of dishes.

It came with a stale loaf of bread.

It came with a sack of potatoes.

It came with a four-poster bed.

It came with a dining room table.

It came with a washer and dryer.

It came with a broken guitar string.

It came with a radial tyre.

It came with a golden retriever.

It came with a basket of fruit.

It came with a bottle of mustard.

It came with a red rubber boot.

It came with a collage professor.

It came with a hive full of bees.

And then- this is simply amazing-they forgot to put on any cheese!

In this box, can you draw anything that came with the Everything Pizza.