DISASTER

The event that caused the dangerous situation in the story was:

The plane hit some turbulence and suddenly crashed. This was unexpected

The description of this terrifying event used the phrases:

"The plane was in an uncontrollable spin" "he could see trees and rocks looming ever larger" "loud sickening thump as he ploughed into the ground".

CHARACTER

The main character(s) in the story was:

Greg Ramussen

Their prior experience was:

He knew how to fly a plane.

He has was an expert on painted dogs.

Because of what he knew about animals, he knew a lot about the Kalahari too.

SURVIVAL

The techniques and skills that they used were:

Making loud noises to scare away predators.

Staying in the shade. Sending an SOS signal

How does the story show their mental strength :

He reflects on what a good life he has had so far and that he is grateful for all his past adventures.

How does the story show their physical strength or endurance:

Heaved his body out from the plane with broken legs.

ENDING

How did the characters manage to get back to safety ?

His SOS signal did get through and a helicopter crew came out to rescue him.

What did they learn in the process?

His legs are now a couple of inches shorter but his was able to continue working with painted dogs.

We expect he tells people where he is going and he always flies with a bottle of water in the plane!
